

Follow, Follow, Follow: Conforming to Society

Task 1: Resolving Family Conflict

Activity 3: Resolving Family Conflict Through Literature Connections

Making Connections

Re-read the poems and short story you selected for Activities 1 and 2 from the point of view of a guidance counselor. As you read, collect evidence about conflict that will help you support your argument. Using the evidence you have collected, write a blog post of at least 100 words. In the blog post, include the following:

- Put yourself in the role or mindset of a guidance counselor who deals with family conflict.
- From the perspective of a guidance counselor, consider how you would help families resolve conflict that stems from the Amendment: All Adults are smarter than children.
- Begin your 100-word blog post with a clear statement that defends or disputes the Amendment: All adults are smarter than children.
- Defend your opinion in your own words.
- Provide at least 2 examples from the poems and story you read to support your opinion.

Answers will vary.

The following characteristics should be prevalent in the student response:

- Clear indication of purpose and audience
- Specific examples from the texts throughout Task 1
- A clear defense or support of the Amendment
- Indication of the writer's own opinion in addition to text-based support
